About This Car

2004 Porsche 996 GT3 3.8L. 1 of only 23 examples finished in Basalt Black Metallic, this very unique 996 showcases a flat-six Mezger engine that has been upgraded to a 3.8 L displacement by DeMan Motorsports along with some other modifications at a cost of over $32k. Offering a custom close-ratio 6-speed manual gearbox and an upgraded output of approximately 450 HP, this exceptional 996 GT3 is now being offered, showing just over 20k miles on the odometer. The rarely seen Basalt Black Metallic finish is noted to be in excellent original condition with paint protective film applied over the front bumper, hood, fenders, and A-pillars. Detailed images and paint meter readings are available. Unique aerodynamic features on the GT3 include a fixed rear wing, side skirts, and a revised front fascia with a lip spoiler. This GT3 is factory optioned with Bi-Xenon headlights, a painted rear model designation, and standard GT3 wheels which are finished in silver and dressed in Michelin Pilot Sport tires. Inside, this GT3 highlights a nicely appointed Black leather interior with Alcantara upholstery on the shifter and handbrake lever. A custom thickened 3-spoke steering wheel has been installed along with a Rennline pedal set, and the interior is said to be in pristine condition with all gauges and accessories working properly.
